INTRODUCTION

Everyone has broken their favorite mug before. In this tutorial you will learn an easy way to salvage your favorite mug after the handle has been shattered. After completing all steps your mug will be able to be used again. However, the handle is no longer dishwasher or microwave safe.

TOOLS:

- Paper Towels (1)
- Super Glue (1)

Scotch Ultra Strength Adhesive

Any type of super glue will be effective, however other glues may vary in their application.

PARTS:

Step 1 — Repairing a Broken Coffee Mug Handle

- Wash your mug clean and rinse the broken edges. Handle carefully to prevent further damage.

⚠ Make sure you don't cut yourself on any sharp edges.

Step 2

- Collect the pieces of the handle and place them on a few paper towels.
- Piece them back together and make sure all of the parts are there.

Step 3

- Take two of the broken pieces that fit together and glue them.
- ❗ Cover the piece in a thin layer of glue (about one drop) and try to avoid getting glue on your hands, keep paper towels close by incase you do.

Step 4

- Continue glueing other pieces of the handle in place until all pieces are together.
- ☑ Once the handle is glued together, wait for the glue to dry before moving on. It will take about 30 minutes to dry.
- ⚠ Be very delicate with the piece while it is drying. Before the glue sets the handle will be very fragile.

Step 5

- After the handle has dried, test that the glued pieces are sturdy.
- ⚠ Do not purposely break it apart, but make sure that the pieces are secure.
- ℹ If the handle happens to break anywhere, repeat step 4.

Step 6

- Once the handle is dried and secure. Begin placing glue on the cup where the handle should attach.
- After gluing both places, gently press handle ends into place.
- ℹ The handle should fit in almost perfectly when aligned.

Step 7

- Now let the glue dry, and your mug is usable again.

 Remember it will take about 30 minutes to dry.

 I would not advise washing this mug in the dishwasher anymore because this makes it more likely to break again.

After completing all steps your mug will now be able to be used again. Remember that the handle is no longer dishwasher or microwave safe.
